Navigating the Treacherous Waters of the ADA, FMLA, and Workers' Compensation

1. Overview and purpose of the ADA, FMLA, and Workers' Compensation.
2. Tips to keep your company in compliance.
3. Leave with checklists, forms, templates and processes for ADA, FMLA & Worker's Comp.
4. How to identify and handle employees who attempt to abuse ADA, FMLA, or Worker's Compensation.
5. Tips for treating employees compassionately,
6. Educate managers on their obligations and roles.

Thursday, February 22, 2024

8:30 AM – 4 PM

Terradyne Country Club,

Andover, KS

Registration: $249

Registration Link

The interplay of three major employment laws is complicated and fraught with challenges.

These laws include the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA), the Family and Medical Leave Act (FMLA), and workers' compensation.

You'll learn how to recognize and evaluate the interplay of the ADA, the FMLA, and workers' compensation laws as all three laws may be involved in employee absences.

This seminar will cover the purpose of the three different laws and how to create processes to effectively manage compliance.

Learn when the laws apply and how to talk to employees to help them understand their roles.

Receive templates, checklists, and sample policies that you can use to develop your ADA, FMLA, and Workers' Comp systems at your organization.

Features

- Live, in-person seminar led by an experienced, SPHR-certified instructor
- Processes you can implement immediately
- Checklists, templates, forms, and resources
- Small class size
- Engaging, interactive sessions
- Certificate
- Lunch, snacks and beverages

Registration Link

- Cancel by February 9 for a full refund
- Cancellations after February 9 may send a substitute [If no one at your company can attend, consider donating your registration to a charitable organization.]

Anita Buchanan

[bio]

316-633-2029

anita@transformmyworkplace.com

transformmyworkplace.com

@transformmyworkplace